In the last 5 years, there has been rapid growth in "behind the meter" solar photovoltaics (solar PV) installations for several commercial companies around the main island of Fiji, Viti Levu.

Climate change related issues affect energy infrastructure of island nations on a regular basis. Fiji, a miniscule emitter, has set a net-zero national target by 2050 and geothermal power plant (GPP) is a possible renewable energy technology to meet this target. However, there are no feasibility studies for GPP in Fiji.
